	Make text Game Over	 The image shows the Scratch costume editor interface. At the top, the 'Costume' tab is selected, showing 'costume1'. The 'Fill' color is set to green, and the 'Marker' tool is selected. The main canvas displays the text 'Game Over' in a red, cursive font, which is circled in red. The left sidebar contains various drawing tools, including a text tool (T) and a shape tool (O).
25	Click Code	 The image shows the Scratch interface with the 'Code' tab selected, circled in red. The 'Costumes' tab is also visible. The 'Code' tab shows a single code block labeled '1' with the text 'Game Over' and 'costume1' below it. The 'Costume' tab shows a green fill color and a 'Fill' button.

26	Click Game Over sprites and make the code like this	 The image shows the Scratch code editor and a preview of the game. In the code editor, there are two event blocks: 'when green flag clicked' followed by a 'hide' block, and 'when I receive Game Over' followed by a 'show' block and a 'stop all' block. The game preview shows a 'Game Over' screen with a score of 40, a dinosaur sprite, and a 'Game Over' text sprite. The 'Game Over' text sprite is highlighted in the sprite list.
27	You can try to play the games	 The image shows a preview of the game in a web browser. The game has a score of 1. It features a dinosaur sprite on a green hill with a brown ground line and blue rocks. The background is a light blue sky.
